

An Evening at the Indian Pueblo Cultural Center

April 1, 2019 5:00 p.m.–8:00 p.m.
Albuquerque, New Mexico

Join us for a leisurely evening on Monday, April 1, at the Indian Pueblo Cultural Center (IPCC). NICWA will provide complimentary buses between the Indian Pueblo Cultural Center and the Albuquerque Convention Center from 5:00 p.m. and 8:00 p.m. Participants will have a chance to explore the center, shop in the gift shop, and learn more about the people of New Mexico.

The museum entry fee is $8.40 which can be paid directly to the cultural center upon arrival. This fee is waived for tribally-enrolled members who show their Certificate Degree of Indian Blood (CDIB) card upon arrival.

In the optional item section of registration, you may choose purchase dinner in advance for this event. The meal will be street tacos, pizza, with vegetarian options available. The cost is $23, which is the allotted dinner per diem amount. Food tickets must be purchased in advance.

About the Indian Pueblo Cultural Center:

The Indian Pueblo Cultural Center's museum is the preeminent place to discover the history, culture, and art of the 19 Pueblos of New Mexico. The permanent collection houses thousands of rare artifacts and works of art, including a world-renowned collection of historic and contemporary Pueblo pottery, as well as baskets, weavings, paintings, murals, jewelry, and photographs. To illuminate Pueblo art and culture, the museum hosts an exciting schedule of rotating exhibits showcasing works from our permanent collection and beyond. The museum is also home to a world-class library and archives with thousands of rare documents and books related to the 19 Pueblos and other tribes of the Southwest.

Find more information on the IPCC webpage: www.indianpueblo.org

This event is a oncurrent event for NICWA's 37th Annual Protecting Our Children Conference
For more information and to register visit www.nicwa.org/conference